Development and Evaluation of Soldier Symbology, 2009. Future soldier systems are being developed that can display a soldier's geo-location on a portable, wearable digital display, but common NATO symbology does not exist for displaying these soldiers on a map. NATO Land Capability Group 1 (LCG 1) has identified a need to develop and validate common symbology for the individual soldier that can be displayed on a wide range of digital display types to improve the joint interoperability of NATO C4I information systems at the dismounted soldier level. National symbology sets were provided by LCG1 for a heuristic analysis based on symbology standards and guidelines in the military domain and in the areas of human factors and symbol adaptability to digital displays. The review of existing symbol sets provided by LCG1 indicated that they generally fell short of the ideal. A new symbol concept was developed to better conform to the heuristic framework and a future plan of laboratory and field testing was proposed. Suggestions for improving the design and development of soldier system symbology are provided and opportunities afforded by hardware and software capabilities are discussed.

Learning and Recognition of U.S., Soviet and Pictographic Military Symbology W. K. Earl, ARMY RESEARCH INSTITUTE FOR THE BEHAVIORAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCES ALEXANDRIA VA., 1982. The military intelligence community has become aware of the need to develop an improved code of military symbology for use with the new technology of automated tactical information processing systems being introduced into the Army. The purpose of this research was to collect a body of empirical data that will increase the technical information base on military symbology. The primary objective was to obtain measures of the learning and decoding characteristics of commonly used symbol elements from current U.S. and Soviet codes and from an experimental pictographic code developed by the Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences (ARI). Author: U.S. Department of Defense Handbook of Military Symbols Department of Defense, 2013-07-09. Being able to effectively communicate using maps, charts, and symbols is an integral part of any military operation. The system contained in the U.S. Department of Defense Handbook of Military Symbols MIL STD 2525C is designed to eliminate conflicts within various symbol sets and to establish a core set of common symbology under one Department of Defense standard. This standardization is essential during joint service operations and this edition has been edited by Colonel Peter T. Underwood, USMC (Ret) to cover the topics and symbols most useful to military and civilian readers alike. This handbook provides sets of C2 symbols, a coding scheme for symbol automation and information transfer, and technical details to support systems which make it the best tool to learn the complete symbology of warfighting. It provides a thorough list of definitions and acronyms along with tables and figures displaying thousands of symbol variants.
